

ARE WE FREE?

It was said that Juneteenth is a celebration of “freedom”

“Freedom Day” for our ancestors—slaves in East Texas...

But were they freed? Legendary—are we free...

And reparation is alive, alive, alive...

It was a Monday June 19th 1865 when union General Gordon Granger with federal troops landed in Galveston, Texas—to ensure slave owners complied with the emancipation proclamation January 1, 1863, a Thursday, by then president Abraham Lincoln...

But were they freed? Legendary—are we free?

East, West, North, South...

And reparation is alive, alive, alive

But are we freed...

A black soldier riding tall from Washington, D.C. to Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas—a bearer of news in a hostile economic climate...

Was he murdered—to secure the harvesting?

What do you think?

Are we freed...

And reparation is alive, alive, alive...

Reparation is alive, alive, alive...

Are we free...
